EFFECTS OF SHELL SHOCK RETURN

Knox County Soldier Detained By Newark Police for Mount Vernon Authorities.

Police Chief James Sheridan received a call from the Red Cross headquarters about 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon to locate George Stewart, who resides just over the Knox county line and who had wandered away from the farm and was headed towards Utica.

Stewart, who recently returned from overseas, was suffering from shell shock and was said to be in a dependent condition. Chief Sheridan immediately got busy and telephoned along the route taken by Stewart and shortly after the marshal of Granville called in and said that a man had driven through the village on horseback, stopping at the outer edge and was acting peculiarly.

Chief Sheridan, accompanied by Patrolman Wm. Hinger went to Granville and the marshal of that village found Stewart about two miles south of town along a creek with his shoes and stockings off and had started to take a partial bath. He is about six feet tall weighs 200 pounds and is a powerfully built young man. He is 24 years of age. The officers endeavored to placate him and coax him into the machine but he was sullen and morose and would not say a word.

It was finally necessary to use force in order to handcuff him and Stewart put up a battle. In the melee he stepped on Officer Hinger's foot. Stewart was finally subdued and brought back to Newark and later Sheriff Mossholder and Deputy Pat Purcell with several relatives came from Mt. Vernon and returned with the unfortunate young man. He will be sent to a government hospital for treatment.

DANIELS SEES BIG INTERNAT. NAVY

U. S. Naval Secretary Says That Greedy Nations Must Know That Conquest is Banned.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) London, May 1.—A large naval international police force will be necessary under the League of Nations plan immediately after peace is declared, in the opinion of Joseph W. Daniels, American secretary of the navy, and one of the objects of his trip abroad is to discuss with the admirals of the United States, France and England some details as to this force, particularly the types of vessels desirable.

"The desire of conquest may still linger in the hearts of some nations after peace," said Secretary Daniels, "and such nations must be shown that it would be unprofitable to attempt to accomplish those desires."

HAS GOOD WORD FOR SNAKE

New Yorker Points Out How Unpopular Reptile Aids the Farmer in Growing Crops.

The pretensions of the snake, as a domestic animal of great value, were advanced by Allen B. Williams, president of the Reptile Society of America, at New York.

The society, of which Mr. Williams is the head, middle and end, has undertaken a campaign of education on behalf of the snake, claiming that as a destroyer of rodents and other small pests on the farm he is the friend and benefactor of man. For the poison-bearing snakes Mr. Williams holds no brief and concedes the necessity for their obliteration from the earth; but of the nonpoisonous ones he had this to say at the banquet while you could have heard a pin drop:

"To the lay mind, the idea of the black or the garter or any one of a thousand varieties of harmless snakes being of any service to mankind may appear preposterous and unworthy of discussion. But the facts are otherwise. The snake has a very important bearing on the question of food production, a matter which, even since the signing of the armistice, grows more important daily. The snake is the great small-pest destroyer of the American farm. Every person who kills a nonpoisonous snake might just as well destroy one hundred times the snake's weight in wheat."

Mr. Williams proposes that the value of the snake be taught hereafter in the farm schools and agricultural colleges and says he intends to become the editor of a publication devoted to snake conservation and culture. He advocated the introduction of a small snake or two into every household in the land, saying that the snake, contrary to popular belief, made an ideal household pet, and in the course of every year represented many times over a saving of his weight in mousetraps.

BETTER THAN ELECTRIC FAN

Punkah System Said to Have Advantages Not Possessed by Its More Modern Competitor.

Electric current for fans is not generally available in Aden, Arabia, and the old-fashioned punkah system is the only relief from the almost unbearable heat and closeness of the atmosphere which prevails at certain seasons of the year. A punkah is a large ceiling fan operated by a coolie, who pulls a rope attached to it. This rope generally passes over a small pulley through a hole in the wall, so that the coolie may work unseen by those in the room to be ventilated.

Often a series of fans is operated by one coolie, this system prevailing in hotels, clubs and other places where there is a large space to be cooled. The actual cooling effect is usually considered more satisfactory than that of an electrically operated fan in the respect that the air currents are more gentle and much more evenly distributed.

A punkah walla, as the coolie who operates it is called, receives in Aden an average wage of $3.50 a month for working from eight to nine hours a day. However, during the hot season, when it is desirable to have the punkah in operation night and day, a force of three punkah wallas, working eight hours each, is necessary.

Pioneer in Her Profession.

The first woman physician in the United States was Dr. Elizabeth Blackwell, who received the degree of M. D. at Geneva, N. Y., 70 years ago. Miss Blackwell was a native of Bristol, England, but came to the United States in her youth. When she was 21 she determined to become a physician, but her application for admission was refused by nearly all of the leading medical colleges of the United States and Canada. A little medical college in Geneva, however, accepted her, and she became one of the most brilliant students of the institution. She suffered, however, from social ostracism in the town, as the Geneva hostesses regarded her either as insane or wicked. Miss Blackwell, after finishing her course, attended medical colleges in Europe and practiced in several continental hospitals. She then returned to New York, where she opened an infirmary for women and children and organized a woman's medical college.

Cards in War Service.

Having helped many a soldier through weary hours in trench and hospital, playing cards are now being pressed into active war service, says the London Chronicle. One little cloth badge on the sleeve of our men from the front, but possibly have failed to understand the designs. They are nothing but the familiar club, spade, heart and diamond of the playing card. Under the new scheme regiments are divided into packs, each company having its own symbol in a certain color to serve as an identification mark, all other badges being removed before going over the top.

Three Kinds of Stones.

This happened near Bedford and in the county which sends away such beautiful limestone. The teacher was giving a geography lesson. She began with shale, told of the way in which it was obtained, of its uses and showed a piece to the children. "Name several different kinds of stone, Fred," she said.

Fred rose with alacrity. "Whetstones, grindstones and tombstones," he answered.—Indianapolis News.

GETS TRACE OF CHEVROLET CARS

Dayton Police Detain Youth Who Admits Driving Car To Newark From St. Louis.

Chief of Police James S. Sheridan has received a clue regarding the stolen Chevrolet cars taken in this city Tuesday evening during the wrestling tournament at the Auditorium theatre.

The chief sent out cards, giving a description of the stolen machines and last night he received a long distance call from Chief of Detectives Walked Hughes of Dayton, stating that he had picked up Ernest Thornhill, 17, who was wanted on a charge of burglary in the juvenile court, and that the boy had confessed that he had stolen a Chevrolet car with two other boys in St. Louis and had driven through to Newark.

Thornhill stated that the names of his companions were Clarence Hall and Charles Robinson alias Charles Patterson and that they had abandoned the stolen Missouri car when a fire burst and had gone up to the public l that city and stolen another Chevrolet touring car with which they had driven to Dayton where he became separated from his companions and he thought they had probably started for St. Louis.

Chief Sheridan is keeping in touch with the St. Louis police officials and has also notified other officials along the route which the boys might follow. He has also wired a description of the Chevrolet car abandoned in this city to the owner.

The two stolen cars belong to Floyd W. Gleason of Johnstown and L. A. Christman of Homer. They offer a reward of $25 each for any information that will lead to the recovery of the machines.

GRANTED DIVORCE DECREE.

In common pleas court today, in the case of Viola E. Husting vs. William B. Husbands, a decree of divorce was granted by the court to the plaintiff in the case.

GAVE SPLENDID SERVICE.

The members of the local lodge of I. O. O. F. are thanking E. M. B. Windle and William O'Connor for the splendid service given them in the use of the Masonic Temple.

At Last!

There are few cyclists who, when compelled to execute repairs to inner tubes by the roadside, have not longed for unpuncturable tires. This desideratum now seems to have become an accomplished fact in Sweden, where the shortage of rubber has caused great efforts to be made to find a satisfactory substitute for the pneumatic tire. The new device consists of a thin strip of hardened steel supported on the rim by springs, the combination being said to give results comparable with those obtained by the use of rubber. Skidding is prevented by the sharp edge of the steel tread, while such tires are, of course, quite unpuncturable. Whether the new device will survive when rubber again becomes plentiful is perhaps doubtful, but as a war-time measure it has proved very useful.—From Chambers' Journal.

Warmth Increases Oil Flow.

An electrical method of carrying warmth to the bottom of oil wells has been found in many cases greatly to increase the flow of oil. The heating process, says Popular Mechanics Magazine, decreases the viscosity of the oil, usually occasioned by the admission of air to the well and the cooling of the rock bed. Minute crevices and capillary channels which afford easy passage to warm, thin oil become quite impassable if the oil gums. The electric heating method not only thins the oil but often generates gas whose pressure helps the oil to the surface. The system found military use in the abandoned oil fields of Roumania and Galicia.

Substitutes for Hickory.

Specifications for handles for trenching tools were prepared during the war by the forest products laboratory at Madison, allowing seven substitute species in place of hickory and also a certain minor defects, thereby making possible greatly increased production for this class of material and at the same time giving satisfactory handles.—University Bulletin.

The Predicament.

Teddy had the usual nine o'clock sickness and did not have to go to school as a result. But at ten o'clock he found that he had recovered, and after dressing sought his mother in the kitchen. "I'm well, mother," he announced. "But I can't go to school till noon. You see it's too late now just to be counted tardy and too early to be counted absent."

Reading Useless Without Action.

If you want to get value out of a book, however, don't lean on it as though you were a cripple. A book can't take you by sheer force and project you into a good job, or put more money in your pay envelope, or make you industrious or patient when you are otherwise. All you can expect of a book is that it tells you how these things can be accomplished. The real job lies with you.

The Black Diamond.

Although white diamonds come chiefly from the Transvaal, the black diamond is found in its greatest purity in Brazil and especially in the Province of Bahia. For its finest specimen so far discovered a price of $20,000 was paid—quite insignificant when compared with prices paid for white diamonds.

At the Psychological Moment.

Clearing Up After War.

On the banks of the Thames, less than twenty miles from London, there is an American town of the musk-room kind such as you might find in a new California oil field. Its population consists of more than 200 white men and about 150 negroes. It covers twenty-five acres which nine months ago were fallow grass land. The business of the town is to receive, sort and store war material. There is a street of wooden huts, another of corrugated iron huts, huge iron store sheds a quarter of a mile long, office buildings, water supply and electric lights, the whole surrounded by a hedge, a few armed sentries and much mud. All day long the khaki-clad heroes push and haul railway trucks full of war material.

War material coming back from Russia is being stored at this camp, also the fittings of the dismantled hospitals which the American army established in England.

What's in a Name?

Most readers are familiar with the story of the German bank in a United States city which, finding its name unpopular, changed it to the "Sherman bank." Here is another example on the same line: A popular New York city German restaurant was called the Kloster Glocke (Cloister Bell), and its front was decorated with a large bell as a sign. The name has been changed to the "Liberty Bell," and the bell of the old monastery now does duty as a replica of the one which rang out independence to the colonies.

SOON WILL BE OF THE PAST

Georgia Wild Cows Seem to Have Served Their Purpose, and Are Fast Disappearing.

The piney woods cow, long a chum of the razorback hog, is fading from the Georgia landscape. It is a poignant thought. She is one of the last links that binds Georgia to the past. Thousands of her roamed over the great plantations that would now be condemned as undemocratic. She was usually red and white—a "pided" cow—inclined to have a poor figure, hump-backed and somewhat knock-kneed, and her eyes were closely situated, in the manner which psychologists shake their heads over, because it indicates the criminal bent. But upon the piney woods cow Georgia in the old days depended entirely for milk and butter. Many planters had hundreds of them, but they all ran wild, and one of the spring sports was to round them up and mark them. If a choice specimen should be captured, she was hard to feed, being unaccustomed to civilized fodder, for piney woods cows eat grass in summer and souse their heads up to the eyes in ponds in the winter, looking for water grass and moss. They always have a forlorn air. Many of them still dwell on the islands of Banks' mill pond, which covers thousands of acres, and butchers of Valdosta hunt them with horses and dogs.—New York Post.

Bricklayers in Winnipeg, Canada, are asking for $1.25 an hour and the contractors will offer only 90 cents. Both parties refuse to make any concessions and work is at a standstill in that city.

THE Methodist Centenary celebration, which will be held in Columbus, O., June 20 to July 12, will for all time establish recognition for the negro in the international church map by transferring him from his traditional role of recipient to that of a potent contributor to the world's religious uplift.

Already a chorus of 500 colored singers, two colored bands, one of men, the other of women, and college quartettes are pledged and in training. In addition 300 negroes will take part in the pageants and assist in the demonstration exhibits.

UNITED STATES GOT BARGAIN

Purchase of Florida From Spain for $5,000,000 Was Decidedly Good Stroke of Business.

More than $5,000,000 was paid by the United States to Spain one hundred years ago for Florida.

In 1819, on the anniversary of the birth of the nation's first president, there was concluded between John Quincy Adams, then secretary of state, and Luis De Onís, minister plenipotentiary of the king of Spain, an agreement and treaty whereby the United States became owner of what were then known as the provinces of East and West Florida.

This territory included not only all of the present state of Florida, but part of what is now Georgia and Alabama, and it was bought for $5,000,000 and the settlement of some claims which amounted to $1,024,741.44, a total of $6,024,741.44.

The language of the remarkable document between the two nations is clear and precise and differs from other treaties to a marked extent. The two men who drew it up were past masters in statesmanship, politics and diplomacy; also, each was the most advanced thinker of the country he represented.

Spain wanted to get rid of her American possessions before they were taken away from her. She was proud, but recognized the fact that she was in no position to wage a long and possibly unsuccessful warfare to hold her colonies.

America wanted the land in this continent held by Spain, but was willing to acquire it by purchase rather than conquest, and with both sides ably represented by the best talent, it was not long before a satisfactory conclusion was reached.

Shed Greatness in Youth.

At the age of 14, and when a sophomore at Cambridge, Francis Bacon left the university in disgust, declaring that the whole system of education was radically wrong at Cambridge and everywhere else. And Bacon lived to prove that he was conservatively right in his contention. Swift despised his teachers because he knew more than they did, and therefore had difficulty in securing a degree.

Wanted a Mourning Dress.

Two little boys went into the rose garden to pick a rose for their mamma. Willie, who had recently lost his papa, said: "I'm looking for a black rose for my mamma, 'cause my papa is dead."

It is generally asserted that women take more kindly to repetition work than men.

WILL MODEL ALLIED LEADERS

American Sculptor in France Has Been Given the Task of Putting History Into Clay.

Joe Davidson, the American sculptor, now in France, is engaged on a most interesting commission, according to the Manchester Guardian. He is modeling a series of bronze busts of the chief allied military and political leaders. Many have already sat for him, and many, including Haig and Lloyd George, have yet to give sittings. One of the sculptor's recent successes was a bust of Marshal Foch, done in clay, from which the bronze work will be completed. Only two periods of time, totaling five hours, were available for Davidson.

But that proved sufficient. Half way through, the marshal inspected what had been done and smilingly remarked: "Sculpture is not so difficult, after all." He also recalled with some pride that Gustave Dore's illustrations to Poe's works were made in his (Foch's) house. He was only a captain then. The sculptor's description of his sitter is interesting: Foch's broad, high forehead indicates a man of philosophic rather than purely military type, but the deep set, piercing eyes and strong though bowlike brutal mouth, nose and chin show that the thinker is equally a man of action and decision. From the point of view of physiognomy, a subject of absorbing interest.

Clever.

"What makes you think Windyman's wife is such a clever woman? She never says anything particularly interesting." "No, but she always manages to monopolize the conversation so that her husband won't have a chance to make a fool of himself."—Boston Transcript.

An Illustration.

"Thought," says a philosopher, "may stay behind silent lips, but when it becomes feeling it runs to expression." We've noticed this in cases of persons who thought they were hitting a nail, but who felt they had smashed their fingers.—Boston Transcript.

ONE PER CENT LAW.

Governor Cox's firm stand against the fracturing of the Smith one per cent law which came in his veto of emergency taxation bill, known as Senate bill No. 145 of the present session, will find hearty approval all over Ohio.

The governor declares that the bill anticipates deficits as of the present year and that it is a dangerous step. He urges that in the present crisis there should be no encouragement to disbursements for anything except necessities.

"We must bear in mind," he declares "that the state itself initiated the fixing of a definite limit on the tax rate and he compact made should be kept in good faith."

The governor declares that the homing instinct of the people must not be discouraged. He urges that real estate must not be made to bear the burden of additional taxation and in that very position brings forth a policy that is the strongest bulwark against Bolshevism and anarchy—making it possible for every man to own his own home. But if real estate must bear the increased burdens of taxation home building will cease.

The chief executive in registering his disapproval of the Republican effort to break the Smith one per cent law, calls attention to the lack of housing facilities in nearly every Ohio city. "A fixed residence," he says "becomes in part an insurance against the success of improper agitation. When a man builds or buys a home he has a livelier understanding of the relation which he bears to government, and as he senses the protecting function of government over what he, by thrift and industry, has conserved, his devotion to the former will increase. Therefore let us do nothing to interfere with the building of homes. If increased revenues to meet public expenses are added to real estate we are sure to defeat an objective to which the whole country is devoting itself."

In conclusion the governor says the relief to taxing subdivisions should be afforded but by methods authorized by the constitution which have not yet been employed.

Republicans are likely to try to pass the bill over the veto for the party's attitude in the present session has been to steer clear of any income or property tax which is charged, would affect those who most liberally contribute to their campaign funds and of course from a Republican standpoint, that would be unthinkable.

An experienced subscription solicitor says they could at once dispose of the Liberty bonds without difficulty if they would offer with each bond a 55 cent alarm clock that will break in a week.

THE AMERICAN LEGION.

The formation of an organization of veterans of the World War bearing the above name, it is one of the most interesting civic events to take place during the current year. The gathering for this purpose to take place at St. Louis, May 8, will rank as one of the historic events of this marvellous year.

The men who are promoting this league have before them a great problem of constructive work. It must be formed on a very broad basis, or it will soon split into fragments, and some other society formed for a similar purpose will take its place. There is really room for but one big association of this kind. Whichever one is established on the soundest principles will live and perform the function.

Two lines of effort for the legion suggest themselves at once. It will naturally seek to secure justice for the soldier. If in any respect or in any locality, the veterans who have given so much are not treated with the respect they have earned, some organization must stand for the mouthpiece and advocate of these unfairly treated men.

But one has confidence to believe that this side of the legion's work will not demand much of its attention. Its main function must be to preserve the principles for which the soldiers fought. It must see that the high ideals maintained by the army, the government, and the people during the war are not forgotten. The lessons of efficiency and discipline learned by the soldiers must be applied to the work of daily life and the business of government.

The tendency is going to be strong, it is already very apparent, to slip away from the simple living and the community spirit of sacrifice and work so manifest during the war. The legion must help the people live up to the level that they have shown they can attain.

A TRIBUTE OF GRATITUDE.

As most people look back at the war, they feel they ought to have done more to help. It will be some slight satisfaction in years to come, if one can look back and recall that he did buy liberally of every Liberty bond and W. S. S. issue. It was but very little to do, but better than nothing. It will make people feel that they were not wholly irresponsible when their country called. So the subscriptions to be made to the final loan will bring a sense of pride every time the interest money comes in.

As the days go by, the splendor of the American achievement grows. Only half trained, not fully equipped with munitions, the American soldiers threw themselves into the tumult of death with smiles on their faces and cheers on their lips. They gave their all with dauntless courage that took the world off its feet, and swept the proud German autocracy to the dust.

How can the American people render some small return for this superb sacrifice? Not to the dead, for they have passed on to receive their reward. But the living are left. Two million of them are still across, their hearts aching for the homeland, their ardent natures begging for the chance to resume their life work.

The home folks can do this: They can raise at once the amount of money asked by the government, so that there shall be no delay in bringing back the boys from any lack of ready money.

The more quickly this loan is raised, the more the soldiers will feel that their services is valued at its true worth. Let us not figure and haggle over it, but subscribe it so quickly that it shall appear the spontaneous tribute of a grateful people, not a contribution forced out of any unwilling people by the teasing of solicitors.

Licking county subscribed its full share of each of the preceding bond and stamp issues. There remains only the Victory loan and the 1919 War Savings stamp issue.

If 3 3/4 per cent government bonds, paying one per cent less than the Victory issue, had been offered only three years ago, they would all have sold without sending out a single solicitor. If so what is the real value of 4 3/4 per cent bond today?

The fact that the majority of voters know nothing what their congressmen are doing, does not prove that they can't give an accurate record of a lot of the league ball players.

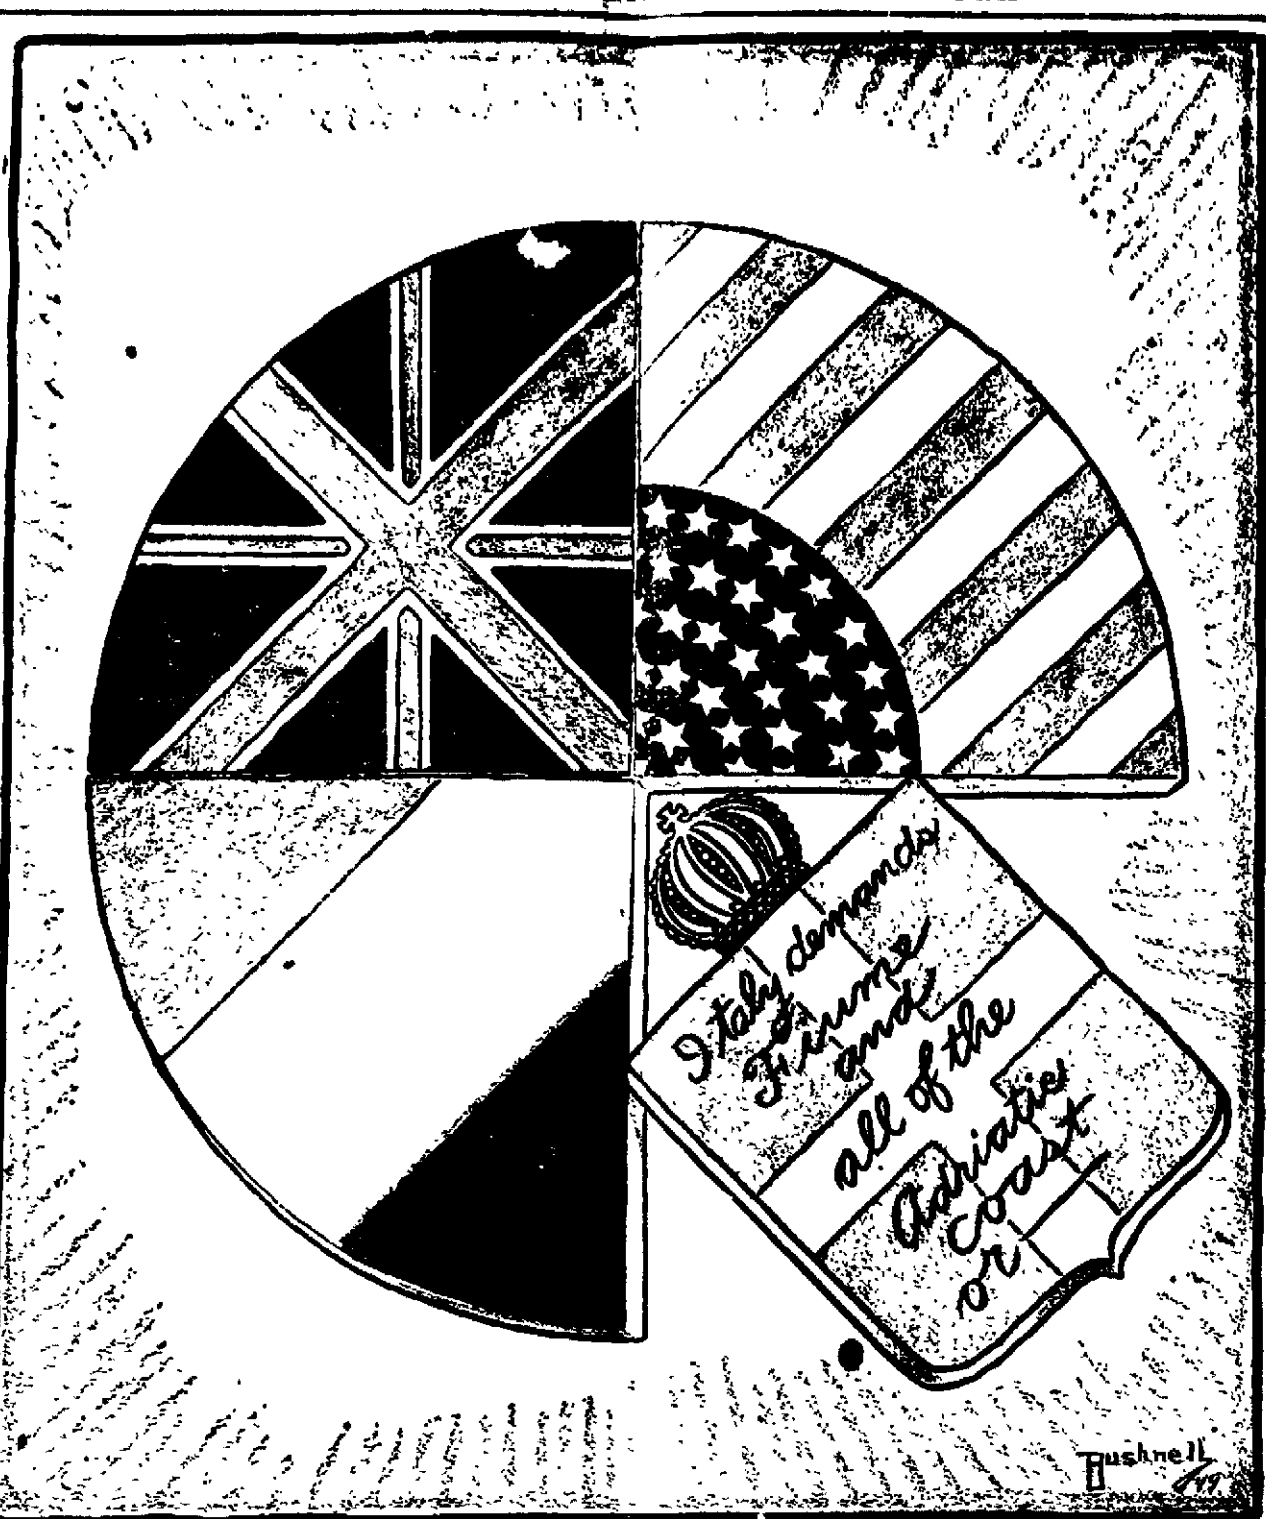

After settling up the affairs of 1900, 100,000 people, it will be some come down to Mr. Wilson to have to return and listen to the rival claimants for postmasterhip of Lonesomehurst.

JOHNSON CITED FOR COURAGE

Newark Man Goes to Aid of Wounded Men During Heavy Artillery Bombardment and is Praised by General.

Frank L. Johnson, former general secretary of the Newark Y. M. C. A., was cited for personal bravery at Les Eparges, France, while serving with the Yankee division, according to a report sent out by the New York Y. M. C. A. headquarters. The report made to the Y officials includes the general order of Major General G. R. Edwards, citing Johnson and five soldiers for going to the aid of wounded men during a heavy bombardment of the position held by the division. The New York story says:

"During the Chateau Thierry offensive, Johnson was attached to the 104th infantry of the 'Fighting Yankee' division. He lived and slept with the men of his regiment, sharing their pleasures and hardships alike; keeping them supplied with cigarettes and chocolate; and going over the top with them, administering first aid to the wounded while under a severe fire from both machine guns and artillery."

"At Les Eparges, Johnson received a most flattering tribute to his personal bravery from the division commander, in the form of a citation, which reads as follows: "During the night of September 23, 1918, the enemy launched a severe artillery bombardment on our position near Les Eparges causing some casualties. The following named men showed marked courage and devotion to duty by going to the aid of the wounded in the face of this severe shelling, allowing no thought of personal safety to interfere with their mission of mercy. The division commander congratulates them on their bravery and comradeship. (Signed) "G. R. EDWARDS, Major General, Commanding."

The name of Frank L. Johnson and five privates follows the order. Johnson was then promoted to divisional secretary in the 32nd division and later assigned to the 81st. He had 45 se retirees under him, and when the division came out of the line and was billeted in 62 towns, he had this large territory to cover in order to keep in touch with the different units. In this way he had opportunity to see and study conditions and especially the relationship as it existed between the French and American soldiers. He is very enthusiastic about the French and believes that they are very keen for the American soldier.

Referring to the criticism of the Y by returning soldiers, Johnson said it was founded on vague rumor and fiction, and that wherever he had been the Y. M. C. A. secretaries were acclaimed and welcomed joyously. He will remain in the service of the Red Triangle, and after a visit home, will return to France and in the fall he expects to go to India.

HUGE ORGAN WILL FURNISH MUSIC FOR METHODIST CENTENARY CELEBRATION

SHIMMERING, pulsating strings; liquid, sparkling flutes; broad, dignified diapasons; militant, exultant trumpets and reeds from the plaintive vox humana; the contemplative, orchestral oboe; the ringing French horn and the quaint clarinet to the massive, compelling sonority of the great 32-foot bombard and its accompanying battery of brilliant tubas, comprise the four divisions of the huge organ which is being installed in the Coliseum at the exposition grounds for the Methodist Centenary celebration to be held in Columbus, June 20 to July 13.

The organ is being built under the direct supervision of W. J. Kraft, director of music at Columbia university, by Moller of Hagerstown, Md. It will cost about $50,000.

"The instrument compares favorably with the largest organs now in use," said Professor Kraft. "It is much larger than the municipal organ at Portland, Me. The organ has 98 stops, having a subdivision great, swell, choir, solo and echo. It will have the divisions of woodwind, brass, strings, harp and organ. It is my purpose to invite some of the leading organists of the world to come to the celebration and give recitals."

Mr. Moller, builder of the organ, said: "I know of no organ in the country which has the power or so many modern appliances as that being built for the Centenary celebration. It will probably hold the record for being the largest organ used for any religious gathering."

There are three separate blowing plants, requiring 25 horse-power, with centrifugal electric blowers and generators. The console is movable, being connected with the organ by a flexible cable, located immediately in front of the stage at the west end of the auditorium. The organ covers a floor space of 900 square feet and weighs approximately eight tons. The blower furnish 6,200 cubic feet of air per minute. Twenty-one million of wire have been installed. The pipes range from three-quarters of an inch in length to 32 feet.

In planning the accompaniment for congregational singing in an auditorium seating 10,000 people, the committee in charge of the preparatory work saw that an orchestra would be ineffective, and that nothing would be so peculiarly in keeping with the religious motive underlying the whole movement as the resonance power, beauty and spiritual uplift, which would result from the use of an organ. This organ will furnish accompaniment of great mixed choruses ranging ing from 500 to 1,500 voices, which will have part in the Centenary Celebration. The work of installing this mechanism already is started and the terms of the contract call for completion by May 1.

Professor Kraft has invited some of the leading organists of the United States to display their skill on this organ during the progress of the Centenary.

BEYOND ALL NEED OF PRAISE

Impossible to Form Words That Will Do Even Simple Justice to American Mothers.

Just before the war the "cellar mother" was spoken of with understanding (in America), if not with laughing sympathy—the woman who deceived husband and sons into the cellar, and then sat on the door, resolved that no unkind of hers should engage in such a fool business as war!

Many of the mothers who so spoke had made the schoolmaster's life a burden by their nervous telephoning when Ned or Harry went to school; yet when the country demanded it and their boys were ten years older, they gave them to the war without a sign of anything but pride, Lucy H. M. Soules writes in the Atlantic.

They had never been trained, like English mothers, to live through ordinary life with a boy in danger on some frontier firing line; but they learned heroism and nerve when the need came.

The American mother learned daily self-denial, too; the most extravagant of nations learned thrift in food conservation; and the most set in her ways of any woman on earth, the New England house mother, altered those ways in that most unalterable part of her house, the kitchen, where everything had been "thus and so" for generations.

And this thrift and adaptability were not drawn out of her by the needs of her own men, but by a quick imaginative sympathy, which bridged 3,000 miles of ocean and felt, with all Sir Philip Sidney's chivalry, for the stranger of alien race, "whose necessity was greater than hers."

GENERAL BELIEF IN HONESTY

Something Very Like the Millennium Seems to Be Near in Great British Metropolis.

How is the sudden trust Londoners have come to exhibit for each other to be accounted for? There is an extreme shortage of copper coins for small change in London, and one man says of his experience: "On several occasions lately news vendors who have been unable to change silver have said to me, 'Never mind, pay me the next time you are this way.' Only one of them knew me as a regular customer. Even more unexpected credit than this was offered me at a railway booking office where I tendered a shilling for a two-penny fare. 'I'm short of copper,' said the girl booking clerk, 'pay me tomorrow.' 'But I shall not be here tomorrow,' I replied. 'Then pay me the next time you are here, wherever it is,' she said. 'But supposing I forget,' I expostulated. 'Oh, I know that you will come and pay me some day, she answered. 'I've never known people fail.' Similar testimony is offered by others, who tell of copper credit thrust upon them by strangers, and often very poor and humble strangers.—London Mail.

THE SLUM ANGEL

Occasionally the broad avenues and the fine residential sections of our great cities see her. They are brighter for her passing through. But down in the slums where foul hallways, congested tenements, filthy streets and dire poverty combine to wring the finer instincts from the souls of your brothers her absence, even for a brief period, is keenly felt. The success of the Salvation Army Home Service Fund campaign, which extends through the week of May 19-26, will double the working hours of the Slum Angels and they make every minute count.

A LIBERAL OFFER BY LICKING CREAMERY COMPANY

To the Users of Milk and Cream From Its Retail Wagon.

The Licking Creamery Company begs to announce that until further notice it will make a regular monthly award of two (2) $1.00 sheets of milk tickets upon each of its retail milk wagon routes to private consumers of milk and cream throughout the city.

The awards will be made on the 15th day of each month.

A duplicate receipt stub from every sheet of tickets sold during the preceding month will be placed in a box from which the stubs to receive awards will be drawn by a disinterested party. Each route will be handled separately.

THERE IS BUT ONE CONDITION QUALIFYING THESE AWARDS.

All competitors must have their accounts with the Licking Creamery Company paid in full for the month preceding the one in which any given drawing occurs.

In other words, should a duplicate of one of your ticket receipt stubs be drawn on the 15th of one month it would not receive an award unless your account was paid in full for the month preceding.

This is absolutely the only requirement made, thereby characterizing this proposition as being extremely clean cut and liberal.

We hope it will please the public. Watch for the next drawing. Your name may be among the fortunate ones to be announced in the papers following the next drawing.

ONE PER CENT LAW.

Governor Cox's firm stand against the fracturing of the Smith one per cent law which came in his veto of emergency taxation bill, known as Senate bill No. 145 of the present session, will find hearty approval all over Ohio.

The governor declares that the bill anticipates deficits as of the present year and that it is a dangerous step. He urges that in the present crisis there should be no encouragement to disbursements for anything except necessities.

"We must bear in mind," he declares "that the state itself initiated the fixing a definite limit on the tax rate and he compact made should be kept in good faith."

The governor declares that the homing instinct of the people must not be discouraged. He urges that real estate must not be made to bear the burden of additional taxation and in that very position brings forth a policy that is the strongest bulwark against Bolshevism and anarchy—making it possible for every man to own his own home. But if real estate must bear the increased burdens of taxation home building will cease.

The chief executive in registering his disapproval of the Republican effort to break the Smith one per cent law, calls attention to the lack of housing facilities in nearly every Ohio city. "A fixed residence," he says "becomes in part an insurance against the success of improper agitation. When a man builds or buys a home he has a livelier understanding of the relation which it bears to government, and as he senses the protecting function of government over what he, by thrift and industry, has conserved, his devotion to the former will increase. Therefore let us do nothing to interfere with the building of homes. If increased revenues to meet public expenses are added to real estate we are sure to defeat an objective to which the whole country is devoting itself."

In conclusion the governor says the relief to taxing subdivisions should be afforded but by methods authorized by the constitution which have not yet been employed.

Republicans are likely to try to pass the bill over the veto for the party's attitude in the present session has been to steer clear of any income or property tax which, if charged, would affect those who most liberally contribute to their campaign funds and of course from a Republican standpoint, that would be unthinkable.

An experienced subscription solicitor says they could at once dispose of the Liberty bonds without difficulty if they would offer with each bond a 95 cent alarm clock that will break in a week.

THE AMERICAN LEGION.

The formation of an organization of veterans of the World War bearing the above name, it is one of the most interesting civic events to take place during the current year. The gathering for this purpose to take place at St. Louis, May 8, will rank as one of the historic events of this marvellous year.

The men who are promoting this league have before them a great problem of constructive work. It must be formed on a very broad basis, or it will soon split into fragments, and some other society formed for a similar purpose will take its place. There is really room for but one big association of this kind. Whichever one is established on the soundest principles will live and perform the function.

Two lines of effort for the legion suggest themselves at once. It will naturally seek to secure justice for the soldier. If in any respect or in any locality, the veterans who have given so much are not treated with the respect they have earned, some organization must stand for the mouthpiece and advocate of these unfairly treated men.

But one has confidence to believe that this side of the legion's work will not demand much of its attention. Its main function must be to preserve the principles for which the soldiers fought. It must see that the high ideals maintained by the army, the government, and the people during the war are not forgotten. The lessons of efficiency and discipline learned by the soldiers must be applied to the work of daily life and the business of government.

The tendency is going to be strong. It is already very apparent, to slip away from the simple living and the community spirit of sacrifice and work so manifest during the war. The legion must help the people live up to the level that they have shown they can attain.

A TRIBUTE OF GRATITUDE.

As most people look back at the war, they feel they ought to have done more to help. It will be some slight satisfaction in years to come, if one can look back and recall that he did buy liberally of every Liberty bond and W. S. S. issue. It was but very little to do, but better than nothing. It will make people feel that they were not wholly irresponsible when their country called. So the subscriptions to be made to the final loan will bring a sense of pride every time the interest money comes in.

As the days go by, the splendor of the American achievement grows. Only half trained, not fully equipped with munitions, the American soldiers threw themselves into the tumult of death with smiles on their faces and cheers on their lips. They gave their all with dauntless courage that took the world off its feet, and swept the proud German autocracy to the dust.

How can the American people render some small return for this superb sacrifice? Not to the dead, for they have passed on to receive their reward. But the living are left. Two million of them are still across, their hearts aching for the homeland, their ardent natures begging for the chance to resume their life work.

The home folks can do this: They can raise at once the amount of money asked by the government, so that there shall be no delay in bringing back the boys from any lack of ready money.

The more quickly this loan is raised, the more the soldiers will feel that their services is valued at its true worth. Let us not figure and haggle over it, but subscribe it so quickly that it shall appear the spontaneous tribute of a grateful people, not a contribution forced out of any unwilling people by the teasing of solicitors.

Licking county subscribed its full share of each of the preceding bond and stamp issues. There remains only the Victory loan and the 1919 War Savings stamp issue.

If 3 3/4 per cent government bonds, paying one per cent less than the Victory issue, had been offered only three years ago, they would all have sold without sending out a single solicitor. If so what is the real value of 4 3/4 per cent bond today?

The fact that the majority of voters know nothing what their congressmen are doing, does not prove that they can't give an accurate record of a lot of the league ball players.

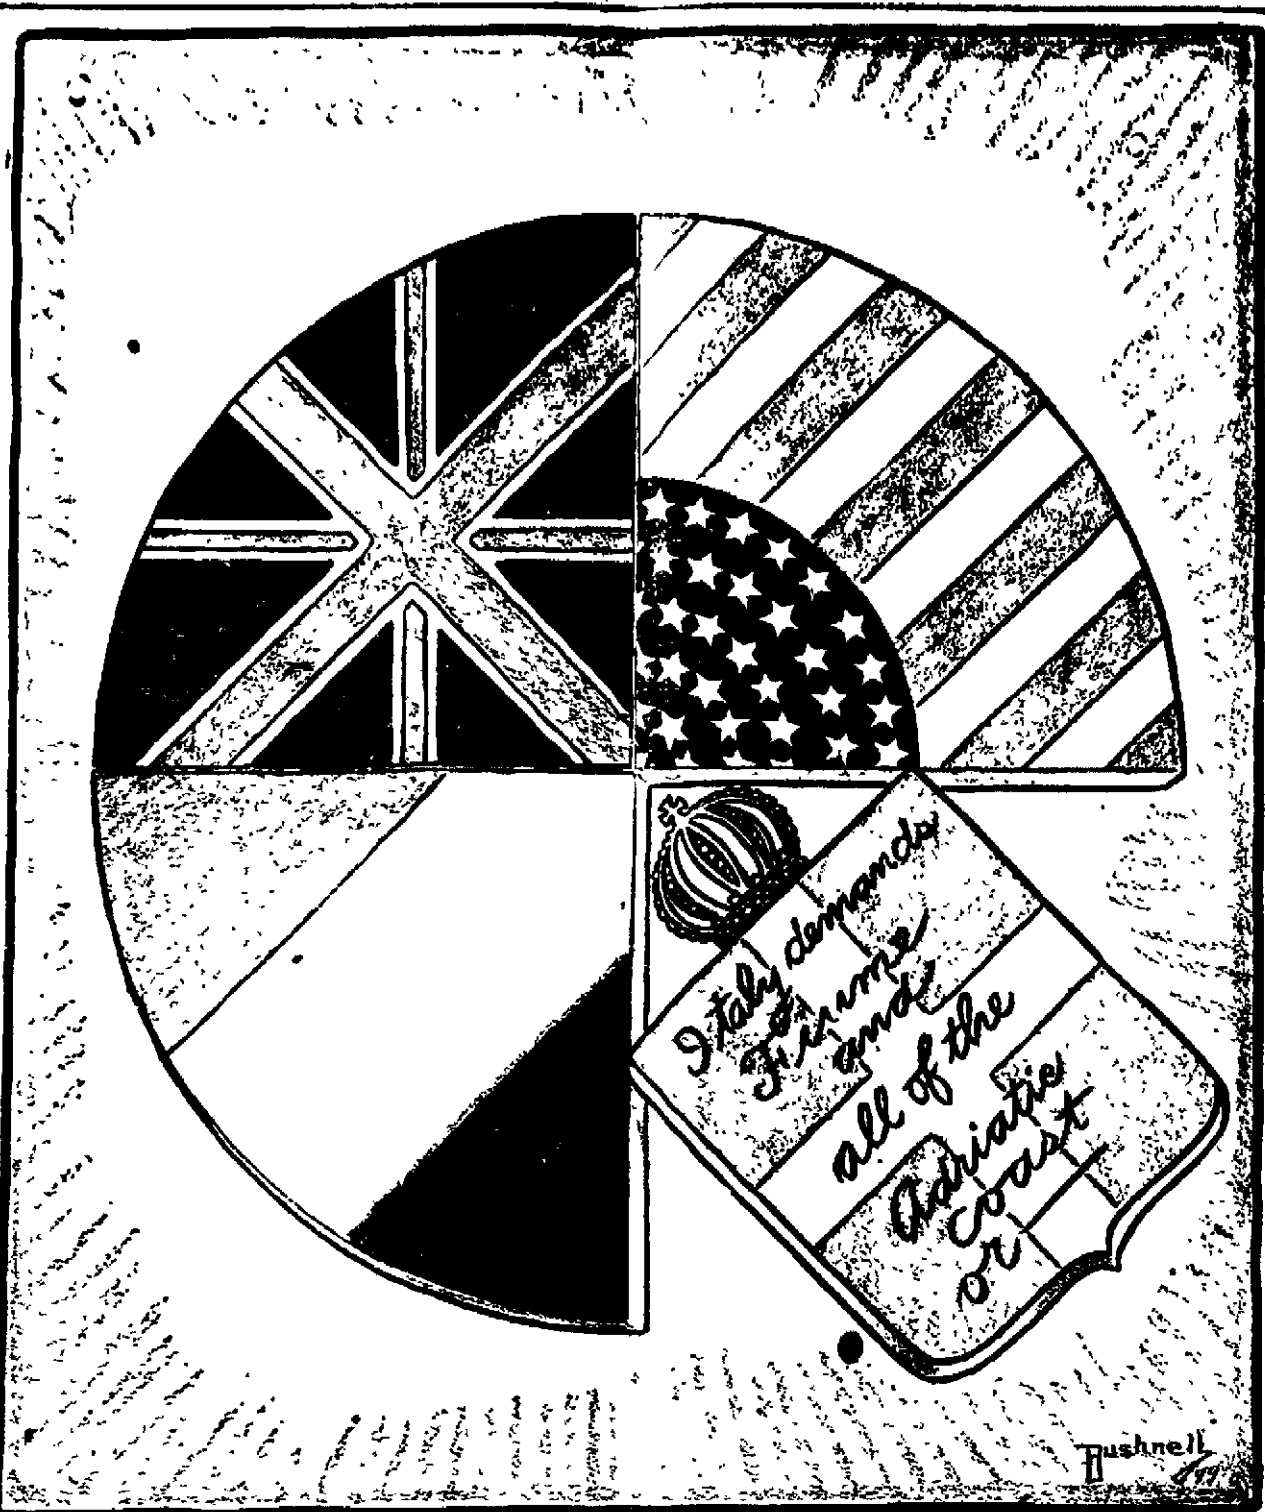

After setting up the affairs of 1,000, 000,000 people, it will be some come down to Mr. Wilson to have to return and listen to the rival clamants for postmasterhip of Lonesomehurst.

JOHNSON CITED FOR COURAGE

Newark Man Goes to Aid of Wounded Men During Heavy Artillery Bombardment and is Praised by General.

Frank L. Johnson, former general secretary of the Newark Y. M. C. A., was cited for personal bravery at Les Epargnes, France, while serving with the Yankee division, according to a report sent out by the New York Y. M. C. A. headquarters. The report made to the Y. officials includes the general order of Major General G. R. Edwards, citing Johnson and five soldiers for going to the aid of wounded men during a heavy bombardment of the position held by the division. The New York story says:

"During the Chateau Thierry offensive, Johnson was attached to the 104th Infantry of the 'Fighting Yankee' division. He lived and slept with the men of his regiment, sharing their pleasures and hardships alike; keeping them supplied with cigarettes and chocolate, and going over the top with them, administering first aid to the wounded while under a severe fire from both machine guns and artillery."

"At Les Epargnes, Johnson received a most flattering tribute to his personal bravery from the division commander, in the form of a citation, which reads as follows:

"During the night of September 23, 1918, the enemy launched a severe artillery bombardment on our position near Les Epargnes causing some casualties. The following named men showed marked courage and devotion to duty by going to the aid of the wounded in the face of this severe shelling, allowing no thought of personal safety to interfere with their mission of mercy. The division commander congratulates them on their bravery and comradeship. (Signed) G. R. EDWARDS, Major General, Commanding."

The name of Frank L. Johnson and five privates follows the order.

"Johnson was then promoted to divisional secretary in the 32nd division and later assigned to the 81st. He had 45 secretaries under him, and when the division came out of the line and was billeted in 63 towns, he had this large territory to cover in order to keep in touch with the different units. In this way he had opportunity to see and study conditions and especially the relationship as it existed between the French and American soldiers. He is very enthusiastic about the French and believes that they are very keen for the American soldier."

Referring to the criticism of the Y by returning soldiers, Johnson said it was founded on vague rumor and fiction, and that wherever he had been the Y M. C. A. secretaries were acclaimed and welcomed joyously. He will remain in the service of the Red Triangle, and after a visit home, will return to France and in the fall he expects to go to Italy.

WOMEN ARE BOOSTING IT YOU CAN'T FOOL THEM

Once you have shown them and got their confidence they will stick through thick and thin to what they know and believe is a good thing.

Hundreds of women in our city are going around today with joy in their hearts and a new lease on life and health where before each day was one long "nervous drag of misery."

As one woman expressed it, "It's not the work you do, it's the way you feel that makes the drudgery, you cannot get ahead when you go to bed all too tired to sleep and get up in the morning half dead. Believe me, I know. I certainly was a nervous wreck, every task a load, no ambition, thin, haggard and pale, an old woman before my time. Look at me now. Work is a pleasure. I am just bubbling over with good spirits, the picture of health, cheeks rosy and full of the color that only ironized blood can give, while my phosphatized nerves are as steady as a clock, nothing worries me, I sleep like a top and feel like a girl of sixteen. Take it from me, I want Phosphated Iron to get all of those nervous feelings out of me, and I can't say too much for it, it's the best thing I have ever used, and all my friends are boosting it."

"There is no need of any man or woman going around with that tired, all-in feeling or any form of nervousness, if they take a brace, and stack up to a package of Phosphated Iron. It surely spruces you up and makes you feel like a live wire once more, so get busy."

Special Notice: To insure doctors and their patients getting the best relief, Phosphated Iron is now put in capsules only, so do not allow dealers to sell you pills or tablets.

AMUSEMENTS

"Virtuous Wives" Tonight.

What a virtue in a wife! Is the pertinent question asked in "Virtuous Wives," Owen Johnson's novel and play of New York society life which, in photoplay form, will be the attraction at the Auditorium theatre the balance of the week and which serves as the medium for the return to the screen of Anita Stewart, Miss Stewart, who has been absent from the screen for over a year, comes back to her admirers in a role that is admirably fitted to her talents and personality. "Virtuous Wives" tells of Amy Forrester and her husband, who start their married life in a "little" place of only four teen rooms and three baths because of his limited income of $25,000 a year. However, he is soon bitten by the bug of ambition and wants the finest home in New York for his wife. All his life

Land of Drifting Clouds, with all its marvelous coloring faithfully produced. People who are familiar with the Frederic Remington paintings of western life, and almost everyone is, will find in "Skyland" real models such as Remington must have used when creating his great masterpieces.

GEM

Marquette Clark is contributing more than her share to the joy of life these days at the Gem theatre today in her Paramount production, "The Seven Swans." This was adapted from Hans Anderson by Director J. Searle Dawley, who was responsible for the direction of "The White Horse" last year, one of the most famous pictures of screen history. "The Seven Swans" is a whimsical, appealing fairy story with all the charm of childhood and the lure of magic.

Anita Stewart in a scene from "Virtuous Wives"

he has worked and never played; so when opportunity steps in his way he leaves for the West to build his fortune, leaving his wife in the city. He tells her to be happy, to play for both of them and that he will not be jealous. The particular society to which he has entrusted her social education is not Admire. The final solution to the problems is worked out in a very dramatic fashion. The supporting cast includes Conway Tearle, Edwin Arden, Mrs. DeVolf Hopper and William Boy.

Vod-a-Vil Movies is an added feature.

Vod-a-Vil Movies.

In connection with the big picture feature "Virtuous Wives," which opens at the Auditorium today, Manager Fenberg has arranged to show for the first time in Newark, Spanuth's Vod-a-Vil Movies. This in itself is a complete Vaudeville show and is said to be one of the newest things in movies.

"The Shepherd of the Hills."

Pastoral sympathy of the kind that approaches grandeur is the inspiring theme in the pictureization of "The Shepherd of the Hills," the photoplay which will be shown at the Auditorium theatre next week. The rugged honesty and worth of the men that lead simple lives in the sequestered Ozarks are graphically depicted. These men, tall and upstanding, are the same type as the sturdy fine trees that reach up towards the stars from the eternal hills. The same type of men who landed upon Plymouth Rock and laid the foundation for this land of ours. In this great photoplay are shown these truly American people, living today as their forefathers did. Men of great strength and the kindness of children. The people in this play live their lives. There is no sham, no affectation. They love, hate, and have their being all unconscious of the fact that they are portraying the great drama of life.

ALHAMBRA

"Fighting for Gold."

Score another success for Tom Mix, the William Fox star, appeared on the screen yesterday at the Alhambra theatre in his new western play as has been put on the screen. It is called "Fighting for Gold," and the scenario, which was written by Charles Kenyon, is based on "The Highlander" by William Macleod. It contains a charming love story, and Mix again demonstrates that he can ride up and down at any angle, that he can rope four men at one time and break up a plot against him, and that he is a wonderful marksman. He proves, too, that his leading lady, Teddy Sampson, is much safer in his arms than she is riding alone in a runaway wagon. The last shavings are seen today.

"A Perfect 36."

The Alhambra offers another very strong program for Friday and Saturday in Mabel Normand, Goldwyn star, who is seen in "A Perfect 36." The picture is interesting and tells of Mabel's work in a boarding house goes along swimmingly until the landlady insists that the slaves try her hand at paper-hanging. Mabel rebels, but with no other position in sight, she tackles the unsavory task. Her employer is soon given cause to regret the assignment, for more of the paste is spat over the parlor rug, the boarders' clothes and the landlady's head than on the ceiling.

Mabel has a sweetheart among the boarders. He is O. P. Dilcock, a book agent, who continually insists that her pretty hands were never intended for boarding house work. Lena summons Mabel to her room and presents her with a full suit Mabel has long admired.

The same day Mabel is discharged for playing pranks on the landlady. So Manheimer, who manufactures wafers in his apartment at the house, comes to Mabel's rescue with a job as traveling salesgirl to take the place of his salesman, who was called into the army. Mabel tells Lena of her good fortune and they journey together to an upstate town.

A new Prizma picture will also be shown.

"Skyland."

Movie picture fans in Newark will have their third dose of the new and much-praised Prizma natural color pictures on Friday, when "Skyland," a Prizma fantasy of the Blackfoot Indian country, will start a two days' run at the Alhambra theatre.

This picture is a great hit when shown in New York and is one of the series of natural color film which the manager of the Alhambra theatre has secured from Prizma, Inc. of New York, for presentation here. "Skyland" is a Prizma fantasy of the Blackfoot Indian country, which tells of the life of a young Indian man who is captured by a white man and taken to a reservation. The picture is a beautiful and dramatic story, and is sure to be a big success.

Witches, hobgoblins, swans, the sand-man and moon fairies have been woven into a story of exquisite charm.

TWICE PROVEN

If you suffer backache, sleepless nights, tired, dull days and distressing urinary disorders, don't experiment. Read this—double testimony. It's Newark evidence—double proven.

Mrs. Julia Rost, 140 W. Main St., gave the following account of her experience on September 14, 1914: "My back felt weak and when I did any bending or other household sharp pain often caught me across my back. Dizziness troubled me a lot. Whenever I bent over I felt as though I were going to fall and specks came before my eyes. There was an ache in the back and top of my head and my kidneys didn't act at all as they should. Two boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills gave me splendid relief. My kidneys became normal and the pains left."

Results that Remain.

TRAIN YOUR HAIR AN ACTRESS DOES

No class of people devotes as much time to beauty as actresses, and no class must be more careful to retain and develop their hair. Industry develops the information that to hair care they find it dangerous to shampoo with any makeshift hair cleanser. The majority say that to have the best hair wash and scalp stimulator at a cost of about three cents, they need only get a package of cascades from your drug

After its use the hair dries rapidly, uniform color, lustrous, soft and shiny and are quickly dissolved and entirely disappear when you wash the hair. After so fluffy it will lock much heavier than it is. Its luster and softness will attract you, while the stimulated scalp will give you the health which insurance men dream of.

Actress Studies Court-Room Types.

Miss Bliss Milford, who plays the part of Marge Reynolds in the sensational Photo-Play, "And The Children Pay," which ran for five straight weeks on Madison St., Chicago at 5th is a Chicago girl who wants to be, and is, solely for her talents as an actress.

The part of one that every woman who feels the tug of love should have since history began, would want to play. It calls forth all the seriousness in an actress and inspires her with a deep sincere conception of life, its problems and its need for betterment. This role did me more good than all the other parts I have ever played rolled into one. An education for me to study the life-stories of the deceived girls, in getting color for our great play. Miss Tyrol arranged to have me meet several girls whose real experiences had paralleled this tragic story. I heard from their lips the most impressively sad stories constantly while playing my part. I felt myself slipping into use of phrases and features they used in their descriptions, and often in looking at the picture since I find that I looked strangely like myself. So entirely was I absorbed in the thoughts of those poor girls.

Hungarian Soviet Government Throws Editors, Writers, Financiers and Manufacturers Into Jail.

Budapest, May 1.—Six hundred arrests have been made by the soviet authorities, virtually every financier, publisher, editor, writer, manufacturer and ex-minister of Hungary who could be reached being thrown into prison. More than 30 editors and newspaper owners as well as a large number of reporters, have been taken into custody. It is alleged, because they refused to accept bribes to champion the soviet cause.

Count Albert Apponyi, former premier; Count Hadik, former food minister; Baron and Baroness Lutz Hatzvay, Countess Niko, the former governor of Fiume; the entire membership of the chamber of commerce and a number of bankers are among the hostages that are being held. Attorney Steingel has been executed and 10 others have been sentenced to life imprisonment.

Former army officers are shining shoes in the streets and university graduates, lawyers and judges are doing menial duties in order to earn enough to secure food, according to Judge Soelling of Kiel, who has just returned from Hungary. He says the propaganda of the red army has been a total failure and that the few recruits who are coming in are doing so out of sheer necessity to secure food.

According to Judge Soelling the population is taking the hostilities between the different factions with dull apathy and are waiting only for the Roumanians, Czechs and Serbs to rescue them. The government continues to take hostages.

BREWERIES TO STOP BEER MAKING TONIGHT

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM] Washington, May 1.—Agents of the department of justice have been instructed to obtain evidence showing what brewers continue to manufacture beer after midnight when prohibition of the use of foods in manufacture of beer, wine or other intoxicating liquors became effective.

This evidence may or may not be used in prosecution of brewers, depending largely on what the federal court in New York decides in the beer case now pending there. Whether production of near-beer after today is prohibited, the department has not ruled.

Manufacturers of wine or beer who continue to operate after May 1 will do so at their own risk, although the department has not indicated any intention of causing immediate arrests.

CLUB WILL PRESENT BOXING EXHIBITION

A smoker and boxing exhibition at Hickey hall in South Fourth street will be given Monday night. A good athletic bill is promised. There are many enthusiastic boxers in the city and since it has become one of the principal sports and healthful exercises of the army it is more in favor than ever.

The principal match will be between Phil O'Dowd and Homer Thomas of Columbus, featherweights. O'Dowd has a record of many victories to his credit. Other contests are being arranged and a large crowd undoubtedly will turn out to witness the events.

JEWES ARE VICTIMS OF MILITARY LEADERS

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM] London, May 1.—Fifty-six Jews have been killed in a pogrom at Pinsk, according to an announcement from the central office of the Zionist association.

Forty persons were imprisoned and brutally treated, it is said, and three women were flogged, one school mistress being rendered insane by the torture. The synagogues at Pinsk are reported to be closed and the Jews have been imprisoned at forced labor. Military leaders are said to have demanded 100,000 rubles, threatening to shoot Jewish leaders if that sum is not paid within 24 hours.

GOVERNMENT TROOPS CLOSE IN ON MUNICH

MANY COMPENSATION CHECKS GO ABROAD

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM] Washington, May 1.—Eighty-six thousand checks, representing payment practically for all awards made to date, were mailed today by the bureau of war risk insurance to beneficiaries of men who died in the military or naval service, and who were insured under the provisions of the war risk insurance act. It was announced. Approximately 1,007,000 checks amounting to $18,200,000 were mailed last month and since October 8, 1917, when the war risk insurance act became effective the bureau has sent out more than 15,000,000 checks to dependents, and more than $498,900,000 has been paid out in allowances and allowances, insurance awards and compensation awards.

These checks have gone to very corner of the world. During March 30,000 were mailed to foreign countries, the greatest number of foreign checks going to Italy. Each check represented a man from a foreign country serving in the armed forces of the United States.

More than 2,500 foreign checks are being held by the bureau because of suspended mail service. Among them are three destined for Germany for the dependents of men in the service of the United States. Over two thousand checks are being held for persons in Russia, Poland, in Turkey, Finland and Rumania, and as soon as proper adjustments can be made they will be mailed.

Regulating Gills.
Everything in the dear old village seemed the same to Gies after his absence of four years as a prisoner of war in Germany. The old church, the village pump, the ducks on the green, the old men smoking their pipes while the women talked—it was so restful after the treatment he had received at the hands of the enemy.

Suddenly he missed something. "Where's Hodge's other windmill?" he asked in surprise. "I can only see one mill, and there used to be two."

The native gazed thoughtfully around as if to verify the statement. Then he said, slowly:

"They pulled one down. There weren't enough wind for two of 'em!" —London Tid-Bits.

BUCKEYE BAND PEACE JUBILEE WEEK AT MOUNDBUILDERS PARK OPENING NEXT MONDAY EVENING

The members of the Buckeye band have arranged with the Rubin & Cherry shows for a big jubilee week starting on next Monday, May 5, at Moundbuilders Park.

The shows will play under the auspices of the Buckeye Band every evening and are coming in the Rubin & Cherry Orange special of twenty cars. They include all sorts of amusements and rides, chief of which is the whip, a large wild west, pig and pony circus, Hawaiian show of 12 people, flea circus, show for the first time in the city, ten-in-one, thrilling, motordrome, Hindoo Charlie, congress of fat people, midget theatre, joyland, the most beautiful and gorgeous merry-go-round in the road and many other attractions that are bound to please.

W. S. Cherry, general representative, and one of the best known amusement promoters in the country, has been in the city the past couple of days arranging for the attraction and desired to show on the Eleventh street grounds near the Midland shoe factory, but after measuring the space found that it would require almost as much space.

The company is said to be one of the best and cleanest on the road with no immoral attractions and has been endorsed by press, clergy, city officials and chamber of commerce. It has played many country fairs and has always been asked to return. The manager has submitted many testimonials to the Buckeye band among which is one from a clergyman, mayor of Mt. Carmel, Ill., and which is as follows:

"To Whom it May Concern: The Rubin & Cherry shows have been in this city for a term of one week and I have inspected their shows and other concessions and find that they are clean and respectable in every way. We have been pleased with the manner with which the company has dealt with the city and can heartily recommend them to any officials with whom they may deal. We have extended Rubin & Cherry an invitation to return to our city at any time they may desire. Sincerely, Clarence H. Hightower, mayor."

Another testimonial is from the Winchester, Indiana, Chamber of Commerce and is as follows:

"To Whom it May Concern: This is to certify that the Rubin & Cherry shows played in our city during the week of the 10th of September, 1917, and that their shows met with the approval of this association, as well as our citizens, in fact, we are forced to admit that their shows is an exception as to character of the management, performers and attractions. Our business relations have been very satisfactory and we commend these shows to anyone wishing a first class, clean and moral carnival. Respectfully, Liberty Week Committee, Ben J. Brown, president."

The Buckeye band boys will have charge of all tickets and expect to realize a handsome sum as their share of the receipts. A number of the boys are home from the war and will assist in the work. The band gave freely of their services during the numerous parades and war activities during the past two years and now ask the citizens to assist in replenishing their treasury in order that they may continue their organization, by patronizing the shows.

A feature of the big attraction will be Prof. Angela Mummolo's Royal Italian band which will give daily concerts. The public is invited to go out to the park and see the colossal setting of the shows which will cover more space than any other similar organization which has ever shown in the city. The doors will open next Monday night at 7 o'clock and there will be free attractions and plenty of music.

SOLDIERS' INSURANCE EFFECTIVE ONE MONTH

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Washington, May 1.—Government insurance on lives of soldiers and sailors will be continued automatically in effect for one month after the end of the month in which a man is discharged from the service even if the man does not pay his premiums. Henry B. Lindsley, director of war-risk insurance bureau, announced this yesterday. If a man dies within that time the insurance will be paid, but after that time the policy is considered lapsed and will be lost unless application has been made for reinstatement. A large policy will be reinstated if application for this is made within six months.

Another new ruling of the bureau is that physical disability of a discharged soldier will be recognized after his discharge even though records show he was sound on leaving the service. Many men in their anxiety to be discharged claim to be physically sound, though they may be partially disabled, and subsequently develop ailments which entitle them to free treatment in government hospitals.

The war-risk bureau is anxious to hear from these two classes of persons. First—Discharged soldiers or sailors who are partially disabled who need free treatment in government hospitals or sanitariums, or who are entitled to compensation which they are not receiving on account of disability.

Second—Soldiers or sailors dependents who have changed their addresses and who consequently are not receiving allotment and allowance checks to which they are entitled. More than 140,000 checks now are held by the bureau for persons who have moved without reporting—their new addresses.

ADVOCATE OF COMMUNITY SPIRIT IS COMING HERE WITH COMMERCE BOOSTERS

Lawrence C. Woods, who comes here the week of May 20 with 150 members of the Chamber of Commerce of Pittsburgh on a trade boosting trip and who is a member of the committee having the tour in charge, takes a deep interest in community spirit. He is enthusiastic as to the nation's business outlook. Mr. Woods is the vice president and assistant manager of the Edward A. Woods Company, general agents for the Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States.

LAWRENCE C. WOODS

He takes an active part in civic affairs and is a member of Edgeworth borough council, where he lives, and chairman of its police and light committees, a member of the executive committee of the Dixmont Hospital, and also of the board of directors of the Associated Charities of Pittsburgh. Mr. Woods is a graduate of Princeton, class of '91, and is at present secretary of his class. He has been permanently associated with the Woods agency since his graduation, the largest agency of its kind in the world.

Milady's Boudoir

Women possessing natural waves in their hair do not as a rule half appreciate this gift of nature. They have never experienced the maddening and wholly disarming way even the most expensive marcel waves straighten out with a few moist zephyrs and the eternal bother of resorting to artificial curling and waving at home. Furthermore, a becoming coiffure is always assured at all seasons of the year and in all weathers, the dampness of the seashore having a tendency to loosen the waves and tighten the curls. Therefore, the woman who has wave sand curls in her hair is thrice blessed.

Hair that is naturally fine and soft may be coaxed to wave and remain so longer than hair that is straight, coarse and bushy. Hair that is in a healthy condition, clean and well-cared for may be trained in the way it should go with a little care and persistence. The water wave is not difficult to do at home and will often keep looking well for several days.

After the hair is shampooed and blown half dry in the sun and air, or by the use of hot Turkish towels, the front and sides of the hair are separated from the back, the amount desired to be waved. It is then brushed and combed and arranged in undulating waves, with the help of a comb and held in place by invisible hairpins, lots and lots of them. There are laid in the way desired and carefully held down by strips of cheesecloth, pulled tight. Then the sides are treated in the same manner. When the hair waves easily half an hour's time is sufficient to leave on the bandages; when it is difficult to train, several hours, over night or longer, are required.

A good curling fluid to help wave the hair is as follows: One ounce of Irish moss, 4 ounces of boiling water, and half an ounce of cologne. Use a small sponge when applying. All curling fluids should be put on the hair before being waved and allowed to dry while the hair is waved.

We see many women who take more pride in their beautiful hands than in any other feature of their makeup. The woman who does her housework can not perhaps appear at all times with beautiful hands but they can take care of them each day so that they will have well kept hands.

The fingers should be round and tapering, the joints small, the skin smooth and the lines slender. I know many instances where the hand has become puffy and ill shaped by wearing gloves that are too tightly fastened at the wrist. The nails should be cared for every day and cold cream rubbed into the hands and nails at night. It is well to wear a house pair of old gloves at night. This always the cold cream in from the fingers the skin down to the wrist. Never rub the hands up. Hand expression is very important.

The twitching hands of nervousness are irritating. The hands that must pull or tear or twist things are most annoying. Hands that clench at things and rest like a clenched fist upon the arms of chairs, or clasp and unclasp are disagreeable.

Softness and whiteness of the hands are what every woman wants and it is not hard to have them. Try washing the hands at least once a day with warm water that has been softened with a little powdered borax. Wipe them very carefully and rub in a little sweet oil or almond oil. This keeps them soft. A few drops of tincture of benzoin added to the water is also good and will have a tendency to whiten them. A little peroxide of hydrogen added to the water once a week will help to keep the hands white.

A paste made as follows is splendid for keeping the hands in good condition. Beat the white of an egg as light as possible, add a teaspoon of glycerine and as much ground barley or oatmeal as the egg will take up. Cover the hands at night with this paste and wear an old pair of gloves at least four times a large for the hands.

Every Day Etiquette

"When invited to dinner at a table who should I thank, the hostess of the host?" asked Marjorie.

"When you are offered any form of hospitality by a married couple, you should thank the woman as it is she who has, for the most part, extended the invitation, but you should also tell your host that you have enjoyed the evening very much," informed her aunt.

"When traveling with friends and leaving her own expenses, should she order or allow the man to order for her?" asked Lillian.

"If a woman is traveling with friends and paying her own expenses, she may give the man the order or the man of the party may do it for her with the understanding that it is to be charged separately," replied her mother.

Our Boys and Girls

In a newborn infant the first care should be of the eyes. Immediately the baby is found breathing, the eyes should be bathed with a disinfectant, which will prevent the form of blindness known as ophthalmia neonatorum. The disinfectant most commonly used is a solution of nitrate of silver, and in many cases there is a law compelling its use by doctors.

It is put up in packages containing a solution in a tube and a dropper is wrapped with it. Every prospective mother should have this in the baby's basket, taking no chances on a doctor not having it with him. Even after the first bathing of the eyes, watch them carefully and if the eyelids reddish, swell, or run together, or show any discharge, send at once for the doctor or an oculist.

The delay of a few hours may cost the baby his eyesight. Do not use a handkerchief to wipe the baby's eyes. Use instead a piece of fine soft white linen and only use this once. Throw it away and when necessary to wipe again find a fresh piece. These pieces should be burned.

Baby's first bath is most important and it should be done in a very warm room. That is the temperature should be about eighty-four, never less than eighty. Lay the baby on a soft, warm blanket and rub it from head to foot with olive oil, vasoline or almond oil. Then roll it up warmly and lay in a warm place. This is just the first bath and the real bath comes later.

When ready for the actual bath, be sure to have both the room and the water warm. The latter about one hundred degrees. It should feel warm, not hot, to the bare elbow of an adult. This rule will carry out in the bath given later. Never adjust the heat of the water by feeling it with the hands as they being accustomed to heat, more than the elbow, do not feel it as much.

Make a light lather of castile soap, and rub the little body gently but thoroughly, using absorbent cotton, sterile gauze or old linen which has been sterilized. Be careful that no soap gets into the mouth or eyes. Don't lay the baby in the water but bathe it on the lap. Rinse carefully with warm water, just dry with soft old towels or gauze, dust the creases with a pure talcum powder and the baby is ready to be dressed.

OLD FELLOW CELEBRATE.
The Independent Order of Odd Fellows celebrated the 10th anniversary at Johnston, Saturday evening, with a fine program. Four young men were initiated, making a men ready for the big class at 11:46 a.m. This was followed by an address by Rev. W. F. Harlow, pastor of the South Street United Brethren church of Newark. Songs were rendered by the chorale.

The young men in Ecuador are fairly well organized and by this means have considerably improved wages. For example, carpenters receive $1.46 a day, masons $1.46 a day, more than former rates. Among the unskilled classes, however, wages have not changed to any extent. Agricultural laborers receive from $1.16 to $1.46 a day and house servants average $1.16 per month.

PLANS PAGEANT FOR METHODISTS

Dr. James E. Crowther

To show in striking, dramatic manner that the present world unrest merely repeats chapters in history is the purpose of a stately, inspiring pageant which has been arranged by Dr. James E. Crowther of Seattle, Wash., for presentation at the big Methodist Centenary Celebration of June 20-July 13 in Columbus, O. Understanding and comfort to the marauders by the trend of modern events are the essentials Dr. Crowther desired to convey when he chose this most dignified form of public presentation.

BEYOND ALL MEED OF PRAISE

Impossible to Form Words That Will Do Even Simple Justice to American Mothers.

Just before the war the "cellar mother" was spoken of with understanding (in America). If not with laughing sympathy—the woman who decayed husband and sons into the cellar, and then sat on the door, resolved that no mankind of hers should engage in such a fool business as war!

Many of the mothers who so spoke had made the schoolmaster's life a burden by their nervous telephoning when Ned or Harry went to school; yet when the country demanded it and their boys were ten years dearer, they gave them to the war without a sign of anything but pride. Lucy H. M. Soule writes in the Atlantic.

They had never been trained, like English mothers, to live through ordinary life with a boy in danger on some frontier firing line; but they learned heroism and nerve when the need came.

The American mother learned daily self-denial, too; the most extravagant of nations learned thrift in food conservation; and the most set in her ways of any woman on earth, the New England house mother, altered those ways in that most unalterable part of her house, the kitchen, where everything had been "thus and so" for generations.

And this thrift and adaptability were not drawn out of her by the needs of her own men, but by a quick imaginative sympathy, which bridged 2,000 miles of ocean and felt, with all Sir Philip Sidney's chivalry, for the stranger of alien race, "whose necessity was greater than hers."

GENERAL BELIEF IN HONESTY

Something Very Like the Millennium Seems to Be Near in Great British Metropolis.

How is the sudden trust Londoners have come to exhibit for each other to be accounted for? There is an extreme shortage of copper coins for small change in London, and one man says of his experiences: "On several occasions lately, news vendors who have been unable to change silver have said to me, 'Never mind, pay me the next time you are this way.' Only one of them knew me as a regular customer. Even more unexpected credit than this was offered me at a railway booking office where I tendered a shilling for a two-penny fare. 'I'm short of coppers,' said the girl booking clerk, 'pay me tomorrow.' 'But I shall not be here tomorrow,' I replied. 'Then pay me the next time you are here, whenever it is,' she said. 'But supposing I forget,' I expostulated. 'Oh, I know that you will come and pay me some day, she answered. 'I've never known people fail.' Similar testimony is offered by others, who tell of copper credit thrust upon them by strangers, and often very poor and humble strangers.—London Mail.

Officers of the United Textile Workers say that 80 per cent of textile work is done in the month of May, and always within a week of the bread line because of long hours and low wages.

THE SLUM ANGEL

Occasionally the broad avenues and the fine residential sections of our great cities see her. They are brighter for her passing through. But down in the slums where foul hallways, congested tenements, filthy streets and dire poverty combine to wring the finer instincts from the souls of your brothers her absence, even for a brief period, is keenly felt. The success of the Salvation Army Home Service Fund campaign, which extends through the week of May 19-26, will double the working hours of the Slum Angels and they make every minute count.

THE COURTS

Miller Looks Case.
In common pleas court in the case of John Miller vs. The Pan-American Coal company, and the W. H. Warner company of Cleveland, an action in interpleader, the court found in favor of the Warner company. The question involved was as to the proper distribution of funds arising from the sale of coal lands by the defendant company.

Nurse Wins Compensation.
In common pleas court in the case of Anna R. Roberts vs. Ira M. Price, executor of the estate of Grace M. Rhoads, the jurors returned a verdict for the plaintiff for $1700. A motion for a new trial has been filed by the defendant. The suit was brought to recover compensation for services rendered Grace M. Rhoads during the latter portion of her lifetime.

COMMON WITCHHAZEL FINE FOR SORE EYES

It is a surprising how quickly eye inflammation is relieved by common witch hazel. It is used by the army and navy, and is mixed with water and used as a wash. One elderly man who had been troubled with chronic eye inflammation for many years was cured by the use of witch hazel. A small bottle of Lycopodium (Witch Hazel) is sold at all drug stores. HUGE ORGAN WILL FURNISH MUSIC FOR METHODIST CENTENARY CELEBRATION

SHIMMERING, pulsating strings; liquid, sparkling flutes; broad, dignified diapasons; militant, exultant trumpets and reeds from the plaintive vox humana; the contemplative orchestral oboe; the ringing French horn and the quaint clarinet to the massive, compelling sonority of the great 32-foot bombard and its accompanying battery of brilliant tubas, comprise the four divisions of the huge organ which is being installed in the Coliseum at the exposition grounds for the Methodist Centenary celebration to be held in Columbus, June 20 to July 13.

The organ is being built under the direct supervision of W. J. Kraft, director of music at Columbia university, by Moller of Hagerstown, Md. It will cost about $50,000.

"The instrument compares favorably with the largest organs now in use," said Professor Kraft. "It is much larger than the municipal organ at Portland, Me. The organ has 98 stops, having as subdivisions great, swell, choir, solo and echo. It will have the divisions of woodwind, brass, strings, harp and oboes. It is my purpose to invite some of the leading organists of the world to come to the celebration and give recitals."

Mr. Moller, builder of the organ, said: "I know of no organ in the country which has the power or so many modern appliances as that being built for the Centenary celebration. It will probably hold the record for being the largest organ used for any religious gathering."

There are three separate blowing plants, requiring 25 horse-power, with centrifugal electric blowers and generators. The console is movable, being connected with the organ by a flexible cable, located immediately in front of the stage at the west end of the auditorium. The organ covers a floor space of 900 square feet and weighs approximately eight tons. The blowers furnish 6,300 cubic feet of air per minute. Twenty-one miles of wire have been installed. The pipe range from three-quarters of an inch in length to 32 feet.

In planning the accompaniment for congregational singing in an auditorium seating 10,000 people, the committee in charge of the preparatory work saw that an orchestra would be ineffective, and that nothing would be so peculiarly in keeping with the religious motive underlying the whole movement as the resonance power, beauty and spiritual uplift, which would result from the use of an organ.

This organ will furnish accompaniment of great mixed choruses ranging from 500 to 1,500 voices, which will have part in the Centenary Celebration. The work of installing its mechanism already is started and the terms of the contract call for completion by May 1.

Professor Kraft has invited some of the leading organists of the United States to display their skill on this organ during the progress of the Centenary.

Is the League of Nations a Workable Plan?

By CLARENCE L. SPEED
(Written for and Approved by the Illinois Branch of League to Enforce Peace.)
It is a remarkable fact that, in all the opposition that has come out to the ratification of the peace treaty containing the draft of the league of nations as it stands, scarcely a single responsible American statesman has come out flatly against the principle of a league to enforce peace.

Many have expressed serious doubts as to whether or not it would work. Others have said that this was not the time to establish it, and that it should wait until after peace was signed. Still more have pointed out this difficulty and that; and, because the American people are very largely headline readers, the impression has gone out that a great number of senators are unalterably opposed to any sort of a league of nations whatsoever.

There is no doubt that some of these objections to the ratification providing for a treaty are sincere. Some of them may not be. But the fact remains that nearly all these statesmen who depend upon the people for votes have left open a way of retreat so that, if it finally develops that public sentiment demands the league it can never be shown that they were unalterably against it.

There are many, on the other hand, who have so definitely committed themselves to the idea of a league of nations that they leave no loophole through which they may crawl if the idea is not favored by American voters. They have the courage of their convictions. They are so sincere that they are ready to stand or fall on their records.

Such a man is William Howard Taft, formerly president of the United States. By no stretch of the imagination could he be considered as backing a league of nations favored by President Wilson through partisan motives. Here is what Mr. Taft had to say in a public speech at Helena, Mont., the day after he had had the opportunity of reading the draft of the constitution of the league of nations as cabled from Paris:

"As lovers of your country and as lovers of mankind I ask you to use all your influence with our senators to have the treaties embodied in the league of nations idea ratified. It is a real league of nations. It is not all that I wished, but comes near. It is a great deal better than I hoped. It contains within its terms provisions for its own growth. Indeed the exigencies of the European situation in the sphere of the league will probably require additional and more stringent provisions in some respects than appear in the present plan."

"There should be no doubt of its approval by the senate when it is embodied in the treaty."

Mr. Taft evidently is convinced that the league will work. President Wilson believes it will work. Lloyd George believes it will work. Even Clemenceau of France believes it will work. It has the complete support of the Italian government, which believes it will work. The little nations turn to it as their only hope of safety. They believe it will work.

If all of these people and these nations believe the league will work how can it fail to work? The only apparent chance of its failing to work would be in case there were enough strong powers against it, while it is young and untried, to keep it from working. But here you find the powers all for it. Who is going to try to upset it—some power like Liberia, or a beaten and helpless Germany? Why, even Germany now hopes it will work and work in a hurry, for without it there is no limit to the penalties that victorious neighbors might impose.

And the peoples of the world, even more than the governments, want it to work. Mothers and fathers whose sons are buried by the million on the battlefields of Europe are for it. Women who have suffered violence at the hands of invading armies, or who have fled headlong from their homes to avoid it, pray that it may become operative. Workmen who are hungry because factories are closed see in it a preventive of war. People who have seen their savings jeopardized or swept away stand behind it.

No one, apparently, wants it to fail, yet there are some who doubt its success because, by careful searching, they can find difficulties in the way.

They may be of good cheer, and if by any chance this league which everybody wants should fail to work, there is nothing to prevent you fighting for your rights just as you did in the past. The United States faced a world in arms with very little preparation for war. She can face a world in arms with peace with an army or navy just as large or small as she chooses. There is not even the most remote probability of the United States ever fighting the league, unless it, too, becomes insane and needs a licking. If it does become necessary for her to fight nations which cannot be controlled by the league, there is nothing to prevent her from doing so.

Further information regarding the league of nations, including pamphlets of the covenant of the league and speeches made in its behalf, may be obtained at the office of the Illinois state branch of the League to Enforce Peace, 342 Menard block, Chicago, Ill.

New York, May 11.—The spirited rally which accompanied yesterday's later decline has resumed on a good basis. The market of the first half hour ranged from 1 to 3 points in shipping, oil, motors, equipment, sugar, rubber, leather and several of the prominent utilities and special lines. Royal Dutch, Sinclair, Standard Oil, and U. S. Steel were the only important exception to the general rise yielding another large fraction at the outset and remaining under pressure.

Traders expected the continued heaviness of the U. S. Steel, the apathy of oil and shipping, and the more speculative oil and food shares. At the Gulf, American International, Marine, Studer, Stutz and General Motors, Kelly Springfield and Keystone Steel, Royal Dutch, Sinclair, Standard Oil, American and Baldwin Locomotives, Ohio Oil and Sugar and Texaco represented the chief elements of strength at gains of 1 to 5 points. Liberty bonds were strong.

Chicago Grain Review.
Chicago, May 11.—Improved shipping demand gave considerable strength to the corn market today. Opening prices, which ranged from the same as yesterday's high to 1/4¢ higher, with July 11.50 to 11.75, and September 11.50 to 11.75, followed by material gains all around. Oats developed firmness in sympathy with corn. After opening unchanged to 1/4¢ higher, with July 6.25 to 6.50, the market continued higher. Provisions were sharply higher as a result of higher quotations on grain and hogs. The biggest upturn was in the pork market.

Mince Pie That Brought Vision of Home Caused Wounded Soldier to Long for Life.
Pie is not among the articles treated of in works on materia medica, but a recent incident shows that it may have therapeutic value. In a hospital lay an American soldier, for whom everything had been done by surgeons, doctors and nurses, and yet something was lacking. He was homesick; his mind was ever away in a little Atlantic coast town. One day, in the midst of his bodily pain and soul-suffering, there flashed upon him the object of his quest, and he murmured excitedly: "Oh, if I could only have a piece of mince pie." It was not that he wanted to eat a piece of pie, for he was too ill for that. His hunger was for what the pie represented. An American nurse who heard the wish managed, with some difficulty, to find all the ingredients for a real New England pie. When she took it to him she put with it a bit of cheese, also hard to procure in these times, so that nothing would be lacking, and in the cheese she planted a miniature Stars and Stripes. The poor boy could eat neither the pie nor the cheese, but they contributed just the home touch needed to improve his condition. When the wife of the American consul general visited him later she remarked upon the improvement in his condition, and he said: "Two days ago I was in such misery that I could have welcomed death. Now I feel that America is not so far away as I thought and that I have got to hang on."

Reading by Ear.
A new invention for the blind enables them to read with their ears. It is a machine called an orthophone, by means of which flashes of light from the letters as they are printed cause certain sounds, easily distinguishable by the initiated.

The sounds vary with the shape of the letters, and very high resistance telephones transmit these to the ears of the blind person, "reading" with highly satisfactory results.

Organized laborers in Liverpool, England, have won their fight against wage reductions and the contractors have now signed an agreement meeting their demands.

The Sugar Shortage.
Colonel House at a Paris reception was talking about the French sugar shortage. "The French sugar ration is a pound a month—if you get it," he said. "Usually you don't get it, and then you buy your sugar clandestinely. The price is 50 or 60 cents a pound. "After enduring the French sugar shortage for a month or two," the colonel ended, "you think very longingly of the peace-time plenty soon to come, and you appreciate as never before the wonderful beauty of the dear old hymn, 'In the sweet by-and-by.'"

 mother, Mrs. McFarland, 499 Maple avenue, expecting to remain for ten days before leaving for Alaska where he will resume his old position, that of superintendent of telegraph on the government railway in Alaska.
 Major McFarland, who years ago lived at Toledo, this county, went to France, September, 1917, as a captain but was promoted to major last September. He was in charge of telegraph and telephone construction to base posts in France and later became general superintendent of telegraph and teletraveled 32,000 miles in his machine.

 charge from army service two days ago, and is now ready to resume his former work in Alaska after a ten-day rest in Newark.

ADMITS EVEN FORDS HAVE THEIR LIMITS

County Clerk Len T. Davis and Assistant Court Stenographer James R.
 Cooper had in experience Tuesday afternoon that they do not care to have repeated. The weary men, who had been having much to do with the discussion took place before the court in the office of the two gentlemen when Clerk Davis undertook to show Cooper
 how well his record could hold a Ford car and a street lamp. As he attempted to get into the car, Cooper with the aid of a policeman, had to find a sheer drop of about three feet the back having slipped off the two Ford cars. Cooper, who had been of these wearying up and down and had been in the car for some time in a near and far position, and trying to get the car back onto its feet.

Indy Song.
 "I've got a song," said the policeman that have been in the car for some time running down the road.

"That is a very good song," replied the clerk, who had been in the car for some time. "I have been in the car for some time and I have been in the car for some time." The clerk then said never before.
